

Lot of Love For Bradford?

We are looking for people to be part of the new Creativity Council, a mixture of people from across the district who want to see:

- MORE positive events that bring people together
- MORE people making creative work
- MORE ideas being shared and heard

The Creativity Council will be fully supported, training will be provided and expenses will be covered. You don't need to have any experience of working in the arts or creative sector, you just need to be excited about making more of it happen.

Creativity Council

Bradford Producing Hub (BPH) is a new 3-year pilot project with a vision to develop a creative city where live performance thrives.

BPH believes that change only happens when people of different ages, backgrounds, cultures and experiences bring their passion and ideas together.

The Creativity Council will be a group of local people passionate about seeing more exciting events in Bradford that bring people together.

A bit like a committee or a steering group, they will have meetings, discussions and workshops to:

- Imagine how live performance and creativity can make Bradford a better place to live and work
- Create new ideas and talk about how these could work
- Help the project think about all the different communities in Bradford and what they want and need
- Talk about how things are going, what we should be doing more of, and what we should do differently
- Review applications for training and funding, and help select what the project should support
